How These Two Charts Meet

At a Glance: How Their Signatures Meet

Ananya Sharma brings a Leo Lagna, a Cancer Moon, and a Cancer Sun: outwardly expressive, self-possessed, and warm, yet inwardly sensitive, protective, and deeply responsive to emotional atmosphere. Rohan Verma has a Cancer Lagna, a Cancer Moon, and a Pisces Sun, giving him a gentle, receptive presentation, strong emotional instinct, and a compassionate, idealistic core. Both carry Cancer Moon energy, creating an immediate sense of emotional recognition and a shared need for security, care, and belonging.

As a potential marriage, this pairing has a soft, emotionally attuned first impression, with Ananya’s Leo presence adding confidence and visibility while Rohan’s Cancer–Pisces combination contributes tenderness and adaptability. The connection may feel familiar and caring, but its 15.5/36 Ashtakoota score—with full Nadi points but no Bhakoot or Gana points—suggests that emotional resonance alone does not remove the need for patience, clear communication, and deliberate adjustment. The overall signature is affectionate and sensitive, with genuine warmth alongside differences in temperament that require conscious maturity.

Guna Milan & Ashtakoot Compatibility

Guna Milan and Ashtakoota Compatibility

Ananya Sharma and Rohan Verma receive a total Ashtakoota compatibility score of 15.5 / 36. This indicates a relationship with meaningful areas of support, especially emotional vitality and physical affinity, while also calling for conscious work around control patterns, temperament, communication, and shared expectations.

- Varna — 1: This score gives Ananya Sharma and Rohan Verma a basic foundation for mutual respect and recognition of one another’s values. Their bond can grow when both avoid status-based comparisons and honour each other’s individual strengths.
- Vashya — 0: Ananya Sharma and Rohan Verma may not naturally find it easy to adjust to each other’s influence or preferences. Neither should try to manage, persuade, or dominate the other. Patience, clear boundaries, and freely agreed decisions are especially important for maintaining harmony.
- Gana — 0: Their instinctive temperaments can differ noticeably. Ananya Sharma and Rohan Verma may respond to pressure, disagreement, or emotional needs in contrasting ways. A calm conflict style, generous interpretation, and willingness to pause before reacting will help prevent small differences from becoming personal.

- Tara — 1.5: The score suggests moderate support for shared wellbeing and the couple's ability to encourage one another through life's changes. Ananya Sharma and Rohan Verma benefit from practical care, dependable routines, and attentive communication during stressful periods.
- Yoni — 4: This is a strong area for Ananya Sharma and Rohan Verma. It points to good physical attraction, sensual compatibility, and the possibility of warmth and instinctive closeness. Preserving tenderness, privacy, and emotional safety will allow this natural bond to remain fulfilling.
- Graha Maitri — 1: Their mental and conversational rhythms may require effort to align. Ananya Sharma and Rohan Verma should express expectations directly rather than relying on implication, and they will benefit from discussing important choices with patience and openness.
- Bhakoot — 0: This score calls for care in aligning emotional priorities, family considerations, finances, and long-term direction. Ananya Sharma and Rohan Verma should consciously build a shared plan and revisit it regularly, ensuring that neither partner feels overlooked or pulled in a different direction.
- Nadi — 8: This is the strongest score in the breakdown and supports vitality, resilience, and a sense of constructive continuity in the partnership. Ananya Sharma and Rohan Verma can draw strength from caring for one another's wellbeing and creating stable habits together.

Overall, Ananya Sharma and Rohan Verma have notable strengths in Yoni and Nadi, suggesting attraction, warmth, vitality, and the capacity to sustain mutual support. The zero scores in Vashya, Gana, and Bhakoot make respectful adjustment, emotional maturity, and practical planning essential. The additional indications reinforce this balanced reading: Vedha and Rajju are favorable, while Mahendra and Sthree Dheerga are not favorable. With deliberate communication and a shared commitment to cooperation, the relationship can develop its strengths while steadily addressing its areas of friction.

Ascendant & Elemental Compatibility

Ascendant and Sun-Sign Elemental Compatibility

Ananya's Ascendant is Leo, a fixed fire sign, while Rohan's Ascendant is Cancer, a cardinal water sign. Their rising signs therefore bring together warmth, visibility, and conviction with sensitivity, protection, and emotional receptivity.

- Leo Ascendant: Ananya naturally approaches partnership with confidence, loyalty, generosity, and a desire for heartfelt recognition. As a fixed sign, Leo values consistency and tends to stand firmly by personal commitments.
- Cancer Ascendant: Rohan approaches relationship through care, emotional awareness, belonging, and security. As a cardinal sign, Cancer is responsive and initiating, especially when protecting loved ones or creating a supportive home environment.

These Ascendants can reinforce one another when Leo's courage gives direction to Cancer's nurturing instincts, while Cancer's emotional attentiveness softens and personalizes Leo's strong presence. Together, they can create a bond that feels both protective and proud: one partner encourages confidence, while the other helps preserve emotional closeness.

Their elemental difference also calls for conscious translation. Fire tends to express itself openly and decisively, whereas water often processes feelings inwardly and responds according to emotional atmosphere. Ananya may benefit from recognizing that Rohan's sensitivity is not indecision, while Rohan may need to understand that Ananya's directness is often an expression of sincerity rather than insensitivity. Warm reassurance, respectful tone, and space for emotional processing help these signs meet in the middle.

Sun-Sign Temperaments

Ananya's Sun is in Cancer, a cardinal water sign. Rohan's Sun is in Pisces, a mutable water sign. Their Sun signs share the water element, creating a natural foundation of empathy, intuition, emotional understanding, and compassion.

- Ananya's Cancer Sun: Her core vitality is connected with care, emotional loyalty, protection, memory, and the creation of a secure inner life. Cancer's cardinal modality gives her the impulse to initiate care and actively safeguard what matters.

- Rohan's Pisces Sun: His core nature is receptive, imaginative, compassionate, and spiritually or emotionally perceptive. Pisces' mutable modality allows flexibility, adaptation, and a willingness to flow around changing circumstances.

The shared water element can make emotional bonding feel instinctive. Both may value tenderness, private understanding, and a relationship in which feelings are respected rather than dismissed. Cancer offers emotional structure and protective commitment, while Pisces contributes acceptance, imagination, and emotional spaciousness. This can be especially supportive when each partner allows the other's feelings to be real without immediately trying to control, solve, or reinterpret them.

Their modalities, however, move differently. Cancer is cardinal: it responds by taking initiative and seeking a definite sense of emotional security. Pisces is mutable: it adapts, absorbs, and may prefer to let circumstances unfold before choosing a fixed direction. This difference can complement the relationship when Ananya provides timely momentum and Rohan brings flexibility to the plan. It can become challenging if Cancer experiences Pisces as vague or elusive, or if Pisces experiences Cancer's need for clarity as pressure.

The overall elemental pattern is therefore complementary rather than identical. At the Ascendant level, Ananya's fixed fire and Rohan's cardinal water ask them to balance self-expression with emotional attunement. At the Sun-sign level, their shared water element provides a strong emotional bridge, while Cancer's cardinal quality and Pisces' mutable quality encourage a rhythm of initiative and adaptation. The relationship is best supported when Ananya's Leo confidence remains warm rather than demanding, Rohan's Cancer sensitivity remains communicative rather than withdrawn, and both use their shared Cancer–Pisces water sensitivity to cultivate patience, compassion, and emotional trust.

Emotional Compatibility

Ananya Sharma has her Moon in Cancer, placed in the 12th house, in Ashlesha nakshatra, Pada 3. Her emotional nature is sensitive, protective, intuitive, and deeply receptive to subtle changes in atmosphere and relationship dynamics. Cancer gives her a strong need for emotional belonging, tenderness, and a secure private space, while the 12th-house placement makes her feeling life inward, contemplative, and often more private than outwardly apparent. She may process emotions through solitude, reflection, sleep, spiritual practices, or quiet withdrawal before she is ready to speak.

Ashlesha adds psychological depth and emotional intensity. Ananya is likely to notice unspoken motives and emotional undercurrents quickly, and she may hold feelings closely until trust is firmly established. Her needs include reassurance, loyalty, emotional consistency, and a partner who can respond sensitively rather than dismissing what she senses. When hurt, she may retreat or become guarded; when secure, she can offer profound care, emotional remembrance, and a strongly protective bond.

Rohan Verma has his Moon in Cancer, placed in the 12th house, in Punarvasu nakshatra, Pada 3. Like Ananya, he is emotionally receptive, caring, and strongly affected by the quality of his private and domestic environment. The Cancer Moon gives him a need for warmth, familiarity, and emotional safety, while the 12th-house placement suggests that he too may require periods of retreat to restore himself and sort through feelings internally.

Punarvasu gives Rohan a restorative and hopeful emotional pattern. He may prefer to recover harmony after difficulty, return to what feels meaningful, and give relationships another chance when genuine goodwill remains. His emotional needs include acceptance, a peaceful home atmosphere, and the freedom to process feelings without excessive pressure. He may not always respond immediately during emotionally intense moments, but his instinct is often toward renewal, reassurance, and rebuilding.

- Natural emotional ease: Both Ananya and Rohan have Cancer Moons in the 12th house. This creates a meaningful shared understanding of sensitivity, privacy, retreat, and the importance of emotional sanctuary. Each can appreciate the other's need for quiet and may naturally value a relationship that feels like a safe inner refuge.
- Shared emotional language: Their common Moon sign supports empathy, care, protectiveness, and attachment to emotional familiarity. They are likely to understand the importance of mood, tone, memory, and the feeling of being emotionally "at home" with one another.
- Different processing styles: Ananya's Ashlesha Moon tends to investigate, hold, and penetrate emotional experience; she may look beneath words and seek clarity about hidden feelings. Rohan's Punarvasu Moon is more inclined toward restoration, perspective, and renewed optimism. Ananya may want to examine an emotional issue in depth, while Rohan may prefer to soften it, move forward, or return to harmony.

- Likely friction: If Rohan's reassuring or forward-looking approach comes before Ananya's deeper concerns have been fully acknowledged, she may feel emotionally unseen or believe that important matters are being bypassed. Conversely, if Ananya's probing or guarded response continues for too long, Rohan may experience the atmosphere as heavy and find it difficult to restore his natural sense of emotional ease.
- Communication of needs: Because both Moons occupy the 12th house, silence can become an important part of their emotional pattern. Quiet companionship can be healing, but unspoken assumptions may also accumulate. Their bond is strengthened when Ananya names the emotional undercurrents she perceives and Rohan explains when he needs retreat, reassurance, or time to regain perspective.
- Nakshatra complement: Ashlesha and Punarvasu differ in temperament but can complement one another. Ananya brings emotional depth, discernment, and intense loyalty; Rohan brings gentleness, resilience, and the capacity to renew warmth after strain. Together, they can create a relationship in which difficult feelings are understood deeply and then gradually transformed into greater emotional security.

The calculated Ashtakoota result is 15.5 out of 36. Within that score, Yoni receives 4 points and Nadi receives 8 points, supporting an important layer of instinctive and energetic connection. At the same time, Gana and Bhakoot receive 0 points, while Graha Maitri receives 1 point, indicating that emotional temperament and habitual ways of relating may require conscious adjustment. Tara contributes 1.5 points, and Varna contributes 1 point; Vashya contributes 0 points. The favorable Vedha and Rajju indications support the possibility of maintaining steadiness when both partners handle differences with care, while the not-favorable Mahendra and Sthree Dheerga indications suggest that emotional nourishment and long-term reassurance should be cultivated deliberately rather than assumed.

Overall, Ananya and Rohan share a strong emotional sensitivity and a common need for privacy, tenderness, and a secure inner home. Their greatest ease comes from compassionate quietness and mutual protection. Their main challenge is that Ananya may seek emotional depth and certainty while Rohan seeks restoration and forward movement. When he allows space for her perceptions and she allows room for his renewing outlook, their shared Cancer Moon can become a source of warmth, empathy, and enduring emotional refuge.

Communication Styles & Mercury

Ananya Sharma: With Mercury in Leo in the 1st house, Ananya communicates with presence, warmth, and personal conviction. Her speech is naturally expressive and dignified; she is inclined to state her view clearly and may take pride in communicating thoughtfully and persuasively. Because Mercury is placed in the ascendant, communication is central to her identity: she tends to process life through conversation, explanation, and the need to be understood.

Ananya's Mercury is in Purva Phalguni, adding a gracious, creative, and socially engaging quality to her words. She may prefer appreciation, affection, and a respectful tone before entering difficult discussions. In marriage, she can be direct when something matters deeply, yet she generally responds best when her partner acknowledges her intentions rather than focusing only on the wording. Her strong Mercury also supports quick learning, articulate self-expression, and the ability to bring liveliness into everyday conversation.

Rohan Verma: With Mercury in Aquarius in the 8th house, Rohan has a more reflective, analytical, and inwardly investigative communication style. He may not reveal every thought immediately. Instead, he tends to observe, examine motives, and speak after considering the deeper implications of an issue. His communication can be reserved at first, particularly when a subject involves vulnerability, trust, shared finances, family sensitivities, or emotional uncertainty.

Mercury in Shatabhisha gives Rohan an independent and objective mental approach. He may prefer honest, problem-solving conversations over dramatic exchanges and can offer unusual or highly practical perspectives. At times, however, his tendency to retreat into thought may be experienced by Ananya as distance or silence. Rohan benefits from stating what he is feeling before moving into analysis, so that his quiet processing is not mistaken for indifference.

In the Navamsa, Ananya's Mercury is in Scorpio in the 6th house, while Rohan's Mercury is in Capricorn in the 6th house. In married life, both therefore benefit from disciplined communication around responsibilities, routines, health, work, and practical disagreements. Ananya may seek emotional depth and complete clarity, whereas Rohan may prefer structured, solution-oriented discussion. Together, these placements can handle difficult matters well when they approach them as a shared problem rather than as a personal contest.

- Allow different pacing: Ananya can give Rohan reasonable time to gather his thoughts, while Rohan should clearly say, "I need some time, and I will return to this conversation," rather than withdrawing without explanation.
- Begin with reassurance: Ananya is more receptive when the conversation opens with respect and warmth. Rohan can make difficult discussions safer by affirming the relationship before presenting his analysis.
- Use both feeling and facts: Ananya should be encouraged to express the emotional meaning of an issue, while Rohan can add structure, timelines, and practical next steps. Neither style should replace the other.
- Keep conflict specific: Discuss one matter at a time, avoid bringing old grievances into a new conversation, and agree on a concrete action before ending the discussion.
- Protect private conversations: Rohan's 8th-house Mercury needs trust and confidentiality, while Ananya's ascendant Mercury needs openness. Sensitive matters should be discussed privately, without public criticism or indirect messages through relatives or friends.
- Choose timing carefully: Ananya can lead with a concise statement of the issue and the outcome she hopes for. Rohan can then reflect and respond. A planned weekly check-in can prevent important concerns from becoming emotionally charged.
- Appreciate each other's strengths: Ananya brings warmth, clarity, and expressive energy; Rohan brings depth, objectivity, and persistence in solving complex matters. When these qualities are respected, their communication can become both emotionally meaningful and practically effective.

The current periods also make communication especially significant: Ananya is in Venus–Mercury, while Rohan is in Mercury–Mars. Ananya may place greater emphasis on harmony, connection, and articulate exchange, whereas Rohan may communicate with increased urgency or forcefulness. During this phase, both should pause before reacting, avoid sharp wording, and return to the shared goal of understanding one another. A marriage routine built around honest check-ins, calm clarification, and dependable follow-through will help their different Mercury styles complement rather than unsettle each other.

Physical Attraction & Romantic Chemistry

Physical Attraction and Romantic Chemistry

Ananya Sharma expresses affection through lively conversation, humour, curiosity, and a strong desire for mental rapport. Her Venus in Gemini in the 11th house makes friendship, shared interests, and easy communication important ingredients in attraction. She is drawn to a partner who can keep her mind engaged and who allows romance to develop naturally through companionship and mutual enjoyment.

Her Mars in Gemini in the 11th house gives her desire a quick, playful, and verbally expressive quality. Flirtation, teasing, intelligent exchange, and spontaneity can stimulate her strongly. Because both Venus and Mars occupy Gemini and the 11th house, affection and desire operate through a similar channel: conversation, social connection, shared plans, and the excitement of discovering new interests together.

At a deeper level, Ananya's Venus as Dara Karaka reinforces the importance of warmth, charm, and intellectual connection in her experience of partnership. In the Navamsa, her Venus in Capricorn in the 8th house adds a more private and serious dimension to intimacy. Though she may appear light and adaptable in courtship, emotional and physical closeness ultimately need trust, loyalty, depth, and a sense of lasting commitment.

Rohan Verma expresses affection with compassion, idealism, and emotional generosity. His Venus in Pisces in the 9th house is romantic and receptive, valuing shared faith, meaningful experiences, travel, learning, and a bond that feels spiritually or emotionally inspiring. He may show love by offering understanding, encouragement, and a willingness to see the best in his partner.

His Mars in Aquarius in the 8th house gives desire an intense yet unconventional character. Attraction may grow through psychological connection, originality, and the feeling of being trusted with private parts of one another's inner world. Mars in the 8th house seeks depth and transformation, while Aquarius prefers freedom and individuality; therefore, Rohan's passion is strongest when intimacy is both emotionally profound and free from possessiveness or rigid expectations.

Rohan's Venus is especially prominent in the Navamsa, where it is placed in Capricorn in the 6th house. This adds practicality and steadiness to his romantic nature over time. He may express love through reliability, service, and sustained effort rather than through grand declarations alone. His romantic idealism therefore benefits from concrete demonstrations of commitment and shared responsibility.

- Primary attraction: Ananya's Gemini Venus and Mars create a lively, conversational spark, while Rohan's Pisces Venus responds to emotional tenderness and meaningful connection. Her wit can awaken his interest; his sensitivity can make her feel emotionally appreciated.
- Physical chemistry: Ananya approaches desire through playfulness and mental stimulation, whereas Rohan approaches it through intensity, trust, and private emotional bonding. This can create strong fascination, particularly when light conversation opens the door to deeper intimacy.
- Romantic rhythm: Ananya may prefer variety, spontaneity, and a relationship that remains socially active. Rohan may seek a more idealistic and emotionally immersive bond. Their chemistry is strongest when freedom and emotional depth are treated as complementary rather than opposing needs.
- Potential friction: Rohan's
- Potential friction: Rohan's intense Mars in Aquarius in the 8th house can seek depth and emotional certainty, while Ananya's Mars in Gemini in the 11th house may need movement, conversation, and breathing space. If his need for deeper reassurance feels restrictive to her, or if her changeable style feels detached to him, attraction can become uneven. Clear communication and respect for personal freedom help preserve the spark.
- Shared potential: Ananya's Venus-Mars emphasis in Gemini can keep the relationship playful and mentally alive, while Rohan's Venus in Pisces and Mars in the 8th house can contribute tenderness, devotion, and depth. Together, these placements support a chemistry that can move from friendship and lively exchange into a more intimate, emotionally meaningful bond.

Overall, the attraction is strongest when Ananya brings openness, humour, and intellectual freshness, while Rohan brings empathy, steadiness, and emotional presence. Their romantic connection is not purely instinctive; it grows through trust, conversation, and the gradual blending of Ananya's playful social energy with Rohan's sensitive and deeply private desire nature.

Marital Harmony & the 7th House

Ananya Sharma: her seventh-house pattern

With Leo rising, Ananya's seventh house is Aquarius, making Saturn the seventh-house lord. Saturn is placed in Pisces in the eighth house, retrograde, together with Ketu. This gives her a serious, inwardly transformative approach to commitment. She is likely to seek a marriage built on loyalty, emotional maturity, resilience, and the willingness to remain steady through changing circumstances rather than one based only on romance or outward ease.

Her spouse significator, Venus, is placed in Gemini in the eleventh house alongside Mars. This adds a strong need for friendship, conversation, shared interests, and a sense that marriage should expand life through companionship, networks, and common aspirations. Venus is also her Dara Karaka, reinforcing the importance of affection, mental connection, and mutual enjoyment in her experience of partnership. Ananya offers warmth, social support, adaptability, and an ability to keep the relationship mentally alive.

The eighth-house placement of her seventh lord asks for conscious work around trust, vulnerability, joint finances, family patterns, and the emotional residue of difficult experiences. Saturn and Ketu together can make her cautious about dependence or inclined to withdraw when the relationship feels uncertain. Her D9 places Venus in Capricorn in the eighth house, again emphasizing that enduring love is developed through patience, responsibility, honest intimacy, and the gradual building of security.

At the same time, Ananya's seventh house receives a Sarva Ashtakavarga score of 32, and Saturn has a strong total Shadbala of 7.09 rupas. These figures support the capacity to sustain commitment when the relationship is handled with discipline and realism. The presence of Sathkalatra Yoga also supports the possibility of a worthy and supportive marital bond. Her strong Mercury, with 9.48 rupas, further helps her articulate needs and solve relationship difficulties through intelligent dialogue.

Rohan Verma: his seventh-house pattern

With Cancer rising, Rohan's seventh house is Capricorn, making Saturn the seventh-house lord. Saturn is placed in Aquarius in the eighth house with Mars and Mercury. He therefore approaches marriage as a serious bond requiring endurance, responsibility, and practical loyalty, while also carrying a strong need to understand the deeper layers of partnership. He may seek a spouse who is dependable, composed, capable of facing pressure, and willing to work through complex matters rather than avoid them.

Rohan's Dara Karaka is the Sun, placed in Pisces in the ninth house with Venus. This gives his marital ideal a principled, compassionate, and meaningful quality. He may value a partner who brings dignity, generosity, faith, learning, or a broad perspective into his life. Venus in Pisces adds tenderness and idealism to his relationship nature, while the ninth-house emphasis supports shared values, spiritual or philosophical understanding, travel, and growth through marriage. Rohan offers devotion, protection, moral commitment, and a desire to give the relationship a larger purpose.

His seventh lord's conjunction with Mars, Mercury, and Saturn in the eighth house makes communication and conflict management central to marital harmony. Mars can bring forceful reactions or impatience; Mercury adds analysis and verbal intensity; Saturn adds restraint, seriousness, and sometimes emotional heaviness. Rohan's Manglik and Ghata Doshas reinforce the need for deliberate handling of anger, criticism, silence, and shared responsibilities. His D9 places Saturn, Venus, Mercury, and Ketu together in Capricorn in the sixth house, while Mars is in Pisces in the eighth house. This emphasizes service, practical cooperation, and the need to resolve disagreements through consistent effort rather than allowing resentment to accumulate.

There are also constructive resources for marriage. Rohan's seventh house receives a Sarva Ashtakavarga score of 29, while Venus is exceptionally strong at 11.15 rupas. Venus in Pisces in the birth chart supports affection and idealism, and his ninth-house Sun and Venus give marriage a capacity to inspire ethical growth and shared meaning. Sathkalatra Yoga further supports the possibility of a respectable and sustaining marital bond when both partners honor their responsibilities.

How the seventh-house indications combine

Ananya and Rohan share a notable eighth-house emphasis in their seventh-house lord patterns: Ananya's Saturn, lord of her seventh house, is in Pisces in the eighth house, while Rohan's Saturn, lord of his seventh house, is in Aquarius in the eighth house. This creates a relationship that is not superficial. Marriage may bring significant inner change, shared obligations, and lessons concerning trust, emotional openness, family conditioning, and joint resources. Both partners are capable of staying with difficult subjects, but both must ensure that seriousness does not become silence or emotional distance.

Their expectations complement one another in important ways. Ananya seeks friendship, communication, social companionship, and a relationship that grows through shared goals, as shown by Venus in Gemini in the eleventh house. Rohan seeks compassion, meaning, dignity, and a wider sense of purpose, shown by his Dara Karaka Sun with Venus in Pisces in the ninth house. Ananya can bring liveliness, flexibility, and intellectual exchange; Rohan can bring emotional idealism, principle, and a desire to protect the sanctity of the bond.

The principal area requiring conscious care is the interaction between Ananya's Venus-Mars conjunction in Gemini and Rohan's Saturn-Mars-Mercury grouping in Aquarius. Both charts value mental connection, yet both contain combinations that can make speech sharp or reactions intense under pressure. The compatibility calculation of 15.5 out of 36, with 0 in Vashya, 0 in Gana, 0 in Bhakoot, and 1 in Graha Maitri, confirms that natural adjustment and emotional rhythm may require effort. At the same time, the full 8 points in Nadi, 4 points in Yoni, and favorable Vedha and Rajju results provide meaningful supportive factors.

Long-term stability is therefore best supported by clear agreements, transparent financial planning, respectful conflict resolution, and regular space for affectionate conversation. Ananya benefits from expressing vulnerability before withdrawing, while Rohan benefits from moderating intensity and making his care emotionally visible rather than communicating only through duty. Their strong seventh-house Ashtakavarga totals—32 for Ananya and 29 for Rohan—show that the partnership has a workable structural foundation. Lasting harmony grows when Ananya's need for companionship and dialogue is joined with Rohan's need for purpose, loyalty, and depth.

At present, Ananya is in Venus Mahadasha and Venus/Mercury Antardasha until 5 January 2029, while Rohan is in Mercury Mahadasha and Mercury/Mars Antardasha until 23 March 2027. Ananya's period emphasizes relationship, communication, and shared aspirations, while Rohan's current sub-period activates the more demanding Mars influence within his eighth-house relationship pattern. This makes calm communication, patience, and careful handling of practical and emotional pressures especially important. As Rohan moves into Mercury/Rahu and later Mercury/Jupiter, and Ananya continues through Venus/Mercury and Venus/Ketu, the relationship benefits from distinguishing genuine concerns from assumptions, preserving trust, and maintaining shared long-term intentions.

Overall, these seventh-house indications support a marriage with depth, resilience, and the potential for meaningful mutual growth, but not one that thrives on avoidance. Ananya offers companionship, adaptability, and emotional investment; Rohan offers devotion, purpose, and steadfastness. Their lasting harmony depends on transforming intensity into honesty, duty into tenderness, and difference into conscious partnership.

Career & Life-Goals Compatibility

Career and Life-Goals Compatibility

Ananya's professional direction: With Leo rising, Ananya's 10th house is Taurus, making Venus the lord of career and public standing. Venus is placed in Gemini in the 11th house with Mars, giving her ambitions a strongly network-oriented, communicative, commercial, and achievement-focused character. Her professional growth is likely to benefit through contacts, collaboration, technology, communication, creative intelligence, and participation in large organisations or communities. Venus, her Dara Karaka, also connects relationship themes with gains, social visibility, and shared aspirations.

Her 10th lord Venus has a strong shadbala of 8.35 rupas, while Mercury—the planet of analysis, communication, and strategy—has the highest strength in her chart at 9.48 rupas and occupies her 1st house. This supports a self-directed professional identity built through intellect, presentation, adaptability, and persuasive communication. The 10th house itself receives 33 Sarva Ashtakavarga points, indicating meaningful scope for career development and recognition when sustained effort is applied. In the D9, Sun and Mars occupy the 10th house in Pisces, reinforcing a deeper desire to make purposeful contributions and to act decisively in support of a meaningful life direction.

Ananya's Amatya Karaka is the Moon, and her Moon is placed in the 12th house in Cancer with the Sun. This adds an inward, protective, emotionally perceptive dimension to her career motivations. Alongside visible achievement, she may value work connected with care, guidance, institutions, distant places, private responsibilities, or causes that serve people behind the scenes. Her current Venus Mahadasha and Venus/Mercury period place particular emphasis on professional networking, skill development, communication, and translating personal talent into tangible gains.

Rohan's professional direction: With Cancer rising, Rohan's 10th house is Aries, making Mars the lord of career and public standing. Mars is placed in Aquarius in the 8th house with Mercury and Saturn. His ambitions therefore tend to involve complexity, transformation, technical or analytical problem-solving, confidential matters, research, crisis management, shared resources, or fields requiring persistence through uncertainty. Aquarius adds an innovative, systems-oriented, and socially aware quality to this professional drive.

Rohan's Amatya Karaka is Rahu, placed in Scorpio in the 5th house. This points toward an ambitious and unconventional approach to achievement, with interest in specialised knowledge, strategy, investigation, innovation, and fields where originality can create distinction. His 10th house receives 24 Sarva Ashtakavarga points, while the 10th lord Mars has a lower shadbala of 4.48 rupas. This combination suggests that career progress may come through demanding phases, reinvention, and the ability to manage pressure rather than through a simple or consistently linear path. His Vipareetha Raja Yoga further supports the theme of significant success emerging after struggle or from challenging circumstances.

Mercury Mahadasha is currently active for Rohan, with Mercury/Mars operating through March 2027. Because Mercury joins the 10th lord Mars in the 8th house, this period can intensify professional restructuring, technical learning, decisive problem-solving, and the career consequences of major decisions. It can be productive, but it may also make his work life demanding and absorb considerable mental energy. In the D9, Mercury, Venus, Saturn, and Ketu occupy the 6th house in Capricorn, strengthening themes of discipline, service, technical competence, duty, and sustained effort in his deeper professional and marital path. Jupiter in the D9 9th house in Aries adds a continuing need for growth through initiative, learning, and personal conviction.

How their ambitions interact: Ananya and Rohan both possess strong professional intelligence, but their career styles move in different directions. Ananya's 10th lord Venus in the 11th house is oriented toward connection, visibility, collaboration, and gains through communication, while Rohan's 10th lord Mars in the 8th house is oriented toward depth, transformation, specialised responsibility, and solving difficult problems. Her path is more outwardly networked and socially fluid; his is more concentrated, strategic, and shaped by periods of professional intensity.

This difference can become complementary within marriage. Ananya may help Rohan broaden his contacts, communicate his expertise, and recognise opportunities through social or professional networks. Rohan may help Ananya develop greater patience with complex processes, protect shared resources, and pursue long-term objectives that require confidentiality and endurance. Her strong Mercury supports planning and articulation, while his Mars-Mercury-Saturn combination can contribute technical focus, persistence, and the capacity to handle demanding situations.

The main challenge is that they may define progress differently. Ananya may feel encouraged by visible momentum, new connections, collaborative opportunities, and measurable gains. Rohan may be more willing to work through a prolonged period of uncertainty if he believes it will produce deeper transformation or eventual success. If her need for movement meets his need for privacy and controlled timing, they could experience frustration unless expectations are discussed explicitly. His professional intensity may also periodically draw him inward, while her 11th-house emphasis may keep seeking wider engagement.

Their current dasha cycles underline this contrast. Ananya is in Venus Mahadasha with Mercury Antardasha until early 2029, favouring communication, networking, professional refinement, and gains through skill and association. Rohan is in Mercury Mahadasha with Mars Antardasha until March 2027, highlighting action, restructuring, technical challenges, and decisive career effort. During this overlap, Ananya may be expanding or consolidating opportunities while Rohan is navigating a more pressurised phase of professional development. Mutual respect for these different rhythms will be especially important.

- Shared strength: Both charts support intelligence, adaptability, and the ability to build a future through specialised skills rather than relying solely on passive security.
- Potential tension: Ananya's gains-oriented social approach may sometimes seem too changeable to Rohan, while his intense and private work style may seem overly consuming or difficult for her to access.
- Practical complementarity: Ananya can support communication, outreach, presentation, and relationship-building; Rohan can support research, risk assessment, technical execution, and management of complex responsibilities.
- Shared vision: They are best served by defining both a visible objective, such as savings, professional advancement, or
- Shared vision: They are best served by defining both a visible objective, such as savings, professional advancement, or a jointly supported enterprise, and a deeper purpose behind it. Ananya's 11th-house Venus can help create the alliances and opportunities, while Rohan's 8th-house Mars can manage the complex planning, research, and persistence required to sustain them.

A successful marriage between them will benefit from clear boundaries around work time, transparent financial planning, and regular conversations about the pace of major decisions. Their ambitions are not identical, but they can run in parallel when each partner's contribution is recognised as valuable: Ananya brings connection and visibility, while Rohan brings depth and resilience. Together, they can build a life strategy that combines professional growth with careful transformation, allowing outward opportunity and inward stability to support one another.

Wealth & Financial Compatibility

Ananya Sharma: Ananya's 2nd house is Virgo, occupied by retrograde Rahu, while its lord Mercury is placed in the 1st house in Leo. This links personal identity, judgment, and communication with the way she handles family resources and accumulated wealth. Her financial style can be intelligent, adaptive, and opportunity-oriented, with an instinct for finding practical or unconventional ways to increase income. Rahu in the 2nd can also create changing priorities around money, periodic dissatisfaction with what has been accumulated, or a tendency to evaluate financial choices through strong personal preferences.

Ananya's 11th house is Gemini, occupied by Mars and Venus. This gives an active and socially connected approach to gains: she may earn through initiative, communication, networking, commercial skills, or more than one stream of activity. Mars adds drive and competitiveness, while Venus supports comfort, aesthetics, relationships, and value-based opportunities. Together, they can make her enterprising and capable of attracting income, but they may also encourage spending on experiences, lifestyle, social commitments, or attractive purchases. Her strong Mercury shown in the Shadbala figures supports planning, analysis, negotiation, and financial organization when she applies these consciously.

The Sarva Ashtakavarga score of 38 in Ananya's 2nd house is supportive for developing financial stability through deliberate effort. Her 11th-house score is 18, so gains may require selectivity, persistence, and careful management rather than relying only on momentum. The contrast suggests that preserving and structuring resources can become more important than simply pursuing additional income. A written budget, clear savings targets, and separation of essential reserves from discretionary spending would suit her chart well.

Rohan Verma: Rohan's 2nd house is Leo, and its lord Sun is placed in the 9th house in Pisces with Venus. This gives his financial outlook a connection with principles, learning, travel, guidance, generosity, and long-term meaning. He may prefer earning or using money in ways that support dignity, education, family values, spiritual interests, or broader life experiences. His approach can be generous and aspirational, although the 9th-house emphasis may sometimes make spending feel justified when it serves a belief, a personal ideal, or the welfare of loved ones.

Rohan's 11th house is Taurus, occupied by retrograde Ketu, while its lord Venus is in the 9th house. This can make his relationship with gains less attached to status or accumulation for its own sake. He may value financial independence and quality over quantity, and he may periodically change direction when an income source no longer feels meaningful. Ketu can bring detachment from conventional measures of success, but it also calls for conscious tracking of income, investments, and recurring obligations so that practical details are not overlooked.

The Sarva Ashtakavarga score of 29 in Rohan's 2nd house indicates a workable foundation for building resources through consistent values and responsible choices. His 11th-house score is 23, suggesting that gains may develop through steady, practical channels rather than through constant expansion. His strong Venus in the Shadbala figures supports attraction toward comfort, harmony, and valuable experiences, while the 8th-house concentration of Mars, Mercury, and Saturn indicates that shared finances, liabilities, taxes, insurance, and contingency planning deserve particular care.

How the approaches may combine: Ananya is more naturally inclined toward active earning, networking, and exploring opportunities, whereas Rohan tends to connect money with principles, security, and meaningful long-term use. This can be complementary: Ananya can help identify possibilities and increase household initiative, while Rohan can help preserve perspective, question unnecessary risks, and keep larger values in view. Both should ensure that enthusiasm, generosity, or lifestyle preferences do not outrun the household's reserves.

- Shared strengths: Ananya's practical intelligence and income-seeking drive can work well with Rohan's value-based judgment and preference for durable benefits.
- Potential friction: Ananya may favor quick action or flexible financial experimentation, while Rohan may resist pursuits that appear detached from long-term purpose. Conversely, Rohan's generosity or periodic detachment from accumulation may seem insufficiently structured to Ananya.
- Household guidance: Maintain a shared account for essential expenses and reserves, while allowing each partner a defined personal spending allowance. Discuss major purchases, lending to relatives, investments, and obligations before committing funds.
- Best balance: Let Ananya lead research, comparisons, and income opportunities, while Rohan contributes review, risk assessment, and long-term alignment. Decisions should be documented and revisited regularly rather than left to assumption.

The current periods also favor mindful coordination. Ananya is in Venus Mahadasha with Mercury Antardasha until January 2029, emphasizing value judgments, communication, planning, and financial choices connected with Venus and Mercury themes. Rohan is in Mercury Mahadasha with Mars Antardasha until March 2027, a phase in which analytical decisions may combine with urgency, assertiveness, and sensitivity around shared resources. These periods are best used for transparent budgeting, careful agreements, and disciplined handling of joint commitments. Astrology can describe tendencies and useful timing for reflection, but the household's financial outcomes will depend on informed decisions, realistic planning, and consistent cooperation.

Family & Children Compatibility

Home, Roots, and Emotional Foundations

Ananya approaches family life through a deeply emotional and protective lens. Her Cancer Moon, together with the Sun and Moon placed in the 12th house, suggests that home is experienced as a private sanctuary where emotional safety, quiet understanding, and strong bonds matter greatly. She may need periods of retreat and emotional space, while still remaining strongly attached to family memories and ancestral themes. Her 4th-house Sarva Ashtakavarga score of 25 indicates a meaningful foundation that develops through care, patience, and conscious emotional nourishment rather than through constant ease.

Her 4th-house lord, Mars, is placed in the 11th house with Venus, linking domestic happiness with shared hopes, friendships, social support, and long-term gains. Ananya may enjoy creating a home that is lively, intellectually stimulating, and connected to a wider community. Mercury's strong Shadbala and placement in the ascendant add a practical, articulate quality: she is likely to participate actively in household decisions and may value clear communication about responsibilities, finances, and family expectations.

Rohan's Cancer ascendant gives him an instinctive concern for shelter, belonging, and emotional continuity. His 4th house contains retrograde Jupiter in Libra, and the 4th-house Sarva Ashtakavarga score is 30, suggesting a substantial capacity to build a supportive and hospitable home. Jupiter as his Matri Karaka further emphasizes the importance of maternal influence, family values, learning, and generosity in his understanding of domestic life. He may want the home to be a place of fairness, comfort, and emotional welcome.

At the same time, Rohan's Moon is placed in the 12th house, so he too may require privacy, rest, or occasional withdrawal from the outer world. His 4th-house Jupiter can encourage warmth and protection, while the concentration of Mars, Mercury, and Saturn in the 8th house indicates that household security may sometimes be connected with deeper concerns involving shared resources, family patterns, or major life transitions. Calm handling of sensitive subjects will help prevent private stress from becoming emotional distance.

- Ananya brings: emotional sensitivity, strong privacy needs, active participation in family planning, and a desire for a home connected with shared aspirations.
- Rohan brings: protectiveness, generosity, respect for family traditions, and a wish to create a fair and comfortable domestic environment.
- Together: they can create a nurturing home when they balance Ananya's need for emotional reassurance and quiet with Rohan's instinct to provide stability and care.

Family Culture and Shared Domestic Life

Both charts place considerable emphasis on emotional security, yet they express it differently. Ananya's Cancer Moon in Ashlesha can make her perceptive about unspoken feelings and family undercurrents. She may notice subtle changes in mood and may seek emotional clarity before feeling fully settled. Rohan's Punarvasu Moon has a restorative, forgiving quality and can support renewal after periods of strain. This can be a constructive combination: Ananya identifies what needs attention, while Rohan may help the family return to balance.

The relationship may benefit from consciously defining boundaries with extended family and making major domestic decisions jointly. Ananya's chart includes Pitru Dosha and Rohan's chart also includes Pitru Dosha, so both may feel that family history, ancestral expectations, or inherited patterns deserve thoughtful attention. This need not be viewed negatively; it can become a shared motivation to establish healthier traditions and a more conscious family culture.

Ananya's Uttama Griha Yoga supports the aspiration to establish a good-quality home, while Rohan's Ayatna Griha Prapta Yoga and Vaahana Yoga support practical comforts and the acquisition of domestic resources. Their shared life may therefore benefit from clear planning around residence, assets, family obligations, and the atmosphere they wish to create at home.

Children and Family-Building Themes

Ananya's 5th house is Sagittarius, occupied by retrograde Jupiter, and her 5th-house Sarva Ashtakavarga score is 25. Jupiter is also her Pitri Karaka, while Rahu is her Putra Karaka. This combination can make family-building a meaningful area of learning, responsibility, and personal growth. She may approach parenting with idealism and a desire to guide, educate, and protect, while Rahu as Putra Karaka can bring an unconventional, highly individual, or evolving approach to children and nurturing. The listed Eka Puthra Yoga and Anapathya Yoga should be held gently and symbolically rather than treated as fixed outcomes; a chart alone cannot determine fertility or the number of children.

In Ananya's Navamsa, Saturn is placed in the 5th house in Libra. This adds a mature, structured, and patient tone to her deeper family commitments. She may take the responsibilities of parenting seriously and prefer thoughtful preparation over impulsive decisions. Her strong Mercury Shadbala can support teaching, communication, and attentive engagement with a child's questions and development.

Rohan's 5th house is Scorpio, with retrograde Rahu placed there, and his 5th-house Sarva Ashtakavarga score is 30. Saturn is his Putra Karaka, bringing a serious, protective, and duty-oriented tone to his relationship with children and the responsibilities of family life. Rahu in the 5th can indicate that his ideas about parenting or family formation may develop in distinctive ways, and that he may need to avoid anxiety, over-control, or excessive concern about outcomes. The chart also lists Aputhra Yoga, Kaalanirdesat Puthranaasa Yoga, and Bahu Puthra Yoga; these are contrasting traditional indications and should not be read as literal or deterministic predictions. Medical and personal realities always matter more than astrological symbolism.

Rohan's Navamsa places Saturn in Capricorn in the 6th house, reinforcing the capacity to handle practical duties through discipline and sustained effort. He may show care by solving problems, organizing routines, and ensuring that responsibilities are met. At times, however, he may need to express affection more openly rather than assuming that practical support alone communicates love.

- Ananya's parenting style: emotionally perceptive, communicative, protective, and oriented toward learning and personal development.

- Rohan's parenting style: responsible, resilient, practical, and strongly focused on protection and
- Together: they can complement one another well when Ananya provides emotional attunement and encouragement while Rohan offers consistency, structure, and practical support.

Their combined family pattern favors deliberate preparation and honest communication. Ananya's 5th-house Jupiter supports generosity, guidance, and a broad educational outlook, while Rohan's stronger 5th-house score and Saturn Putra Karaka emphasize sustained responsibility. They may differ over how much freedom versus structure a child should receive, but this difference can become constructive if discussed respectfully and adjusted according to the child's individual needs.

The compatibility score of 15.5 out of 36, with strong Nadi points of 8 but zero points for Gana and Bhakoot, suggests that emotional and practical compatibility should be developed consciously rather than assumed. The favorable Vedha and Rajju results provide supportive relationship factors, while the unfavorable Mahendra and Sthree Dheerga results encourage particular care with shared growth, long-term expectations, and mutual emotional reassurance. For family life, this makes steady communication, aligned values, and a peaceful conflict-resolution style especially important.

Overall, Ananya and Rohan have the potential to build a warm and meaningful family environment by combining sensitivity with steadiness. Their strongest foundation will come from creating a home where privacy is respected, ancestral patterns are handled thoughtfully, responsibilities are shared, and children—if and when they choose to welcome them—are supported as individuals rather than measured against fixed expectations.

In-Laws & Extended Family Dynamics

Ananya's relationship with Rohan's family

Ananya's Leo ascendant and strong Mercury in the 1st house give her a poised, articulate presence. She is likely to make a good impression when she is able to speak openly and participate on her own terms. Her 4th house is Scorpio, with Mars as its lord placed in

Gemini in the 11th house alongside Venus. This connects home and family matters with conversation, social networks, and shared circles. She may build rapport with Rohan's family through lively discussion, practical assistance, and involvement in family occasions.

The Scorpio tone of the 4th house, together with Saturn and Ketu in the 8th house, suggests that Ananya may be sensitive to unspoken expectations or private family patterns. She may notice emotional undercurrents quickly and prefer sincerity over formal politeness. Her Cancer Moon in the 12th house can also make her absorb the atmosphere around her and need quiet time after intense family gatherings. Rohan's family will benefit from recognizing that her reserve is often a way of processing, not a lack of warmth.

Ananya's Jupiter in Sagittarius in the 5th house supports respect for wisdom, tradition, and principled guidance. Her Bandhu Puja and Uttama Griha indications further support a dignified approach to family relationships. She can honor elders while still needing a private, emotionally secure home environment. The best connection will come when respect is mutual rather than expressed through pressure or assumptions.

Rohan's relationship with Ananya's family

Rohan has Libra as his 4th house, with its lord Venus exalted in Pisces in the 9th house alongside the Sun. This is a gracious and relationship-oriented signature for engagement with a spouse's family. He is likely to value courtesy, shared values, blessings from elders, and participation in meaningful family or cultural traditions. Venus's very strong Shadbala supports his ability to create goodwill through kindness, diplomacy, and considerate conduct.

Jupiter, the natural significator of family wisdom and Rohan's Matri Karaka, is retrograde in the 4th house. This emphasizes the importance of family, while also suggesting that Rohan may reflect deeply on what a healthy home should mean to him. He may have a strong instinct to preserve harmony, but could sometimes take responsibility for too much of the emotional atmosphere. Ananya's family may appreciate his calm, respectful manner when he allows trust to develop gradually.

Rohan's Sun as Dara Karaka in the 9th house gives marriage a connection with principles, elders, and family honor. At the same time, his Mars, Mercury, and Saturn in Aquarius in the 8th house show that he may approach sensitive family subjects analytically or become quiet when discussions feel complicated. A gentle pace, private discussion, and clear reassurance will help him remain open rather than retreating into problem-solving.

Shared approach to extended-family dynamics

The two charts show different but complementary family instincts. Ananya brings emotional sensitivity, perceptiveness, and a direct communicative style, while Rohan brings diplomacy, respect for tradition, and a strong wish to maintain harmony. Their Moon placements both emphasize emotional receptivity, although Ananya's Cancer Moon tends to protect feelings inwardly and Rohan's Moon in Gemini processes feelings through thought and conversation. They should therefore avoid assuming that silence or quick discussion means the same thing to both of them.

- Present a united but courteous boundary. Decide privately which matters belong to the couple and communicate those decisions calmly to relatives. Rohan's diplomatic Venus and Ananya's articulate Mercury can support a respectful, consistent message.
- Use direct, gentle language. Ananya's Mars and Venus in Gemini favor discussion, while Rohan's Aquarius concentration can become highly analytical. Specific requests will work better than hints, emotional testing, or indirect criticism.
- Protect recovery time after gatherings. Ananya's Sun and Moon in the 12th house indicate a need for emotional quiet, and Rohan's Moon in the 12th house also benefits from private decompression. Scheduling rest after major visits can keep ordinary fatigue from being mistaken for family displeasure.
- Build bonds individually. Ananya may connect especially well with relatives through conversation and shared activities, while Rohan can deepen trust through courtesy, reliability, and participation in family traditions. One-to-one contact may feel more natural than forcing immediate closeness in a large group.
- Keep sensitive subjects confidential. With both charts emphasizing the 8th-house realm in different ways, private family matters should not become public discussion. The couple should first clarify the facts and their own feelings before involving relatives.
- Honor elders without surrendering autonomy. Rohan's 4th-house Jupiter and 9th-house Venus-Sun combination support respect for family guidance. Ananya's Scorpio 4th-house influence reminds the couple to preserve emotional privacy and clear household boundaries. Appreciation and independence can coexist.

Rohan's current Mercury–Mars period through March 2027 favors practical action but calls for care with tone, especially around complicated or emotionally charged family matters. Ananya's Venus–Mercury period through January 2029 supports dialogue, social connection, and finding tactful solutions. Used constructively, these periods encourage the couple to discuss expectations early, agree on limits together, and let warmth rather than defensiveness guide their interactions with both families.

Values, Beliefs & Shared Purpose

Ananya Sharma: Dharma, Beliefs and Sense of Purpose

Ananya's ninth house is Aries, making Mars the lord of dharma, higher learning and worldview. Mars is placed in her eleventh house in Gemini, alongside Venus. This gives her ideals a thoughtful, communicative and socially engaged expression. She may seek purpose through learning, discussion, networks, friendships and the exchange of ideas, rather than through a single fixed doctrine. Her beliefs are likely to become more vigorous when they can be tested through conversation and applied to real goals.

Her Jupiter, a natural significator of wisdom, is in Sagittarius in the fifth house and is retrograde. This is a strong philosophical signature: Ananya's values are connected with discernment, ethical understanding, study, teaching, creativity and the search for meaning. The retrograde condition makes her relationship with belief systems inward and reflective. She may prefer to examine principles personally rather than accept tradition without question.

The Navamsa reinforces a purposeful and service-oriented spiritual development. Ananya's Moon is in Aquarius in the ninth house of the D9, suggesting that her deeper dharma includes broad-mindedness, social awareness, intellectual independence and concern for the wider human community. Her Sun and Mars are together in Pisces in the tenth house, adding compassion, imagination and a wish to make her ideals useful through meaningful action.

Her ninth-house Ashtakavarga picture is moderate, with 28 Sarva points, while the Lagna contributes 4 points to the ninth house. This supports a genuine capacity for growth through learning and worldview, especially when her beliefs are translated into constructive action.

With Venus Mahadasha and Mercury Antardasha active, relationships, communication, study and the practical exchange of ideas are especially relevant to the way she is currently defining purpose.

Rohan Verma: Dharma, Beliefs and Sense of Purpose

Rohan's ninth house is Pisces, and its lord Jupiter is placed in the fourth house in Libra, retrograde. His sense of purpose is therefore closely tied to inner security, home, emotional grounding, family values and the creation of harmony. He may approach higher learning and belief through reflection, lived experience and the desire to cultivate balance rather than through abstract conviction alone.

The ninth house itself contains the Sun and Venus in Pisces. The Sun gives his worldview a personal and principled quality: purpose matters to his identity, and he may wish to live according to ideals that feel morally or spiritually significant. Venus in Pisces brings compassion, devotion, beauty and inclusiveness to his beliefs. It can incline him toward a generous and emotionally resonant vision of life, with appreciation for art, empathy and higher values.

Rohan's D9 places Jupiter retrograde in Aries in the ninth house, making dharma a prominent theme in his inner development and married life. His deeper path calls for initiative, courage and independent judgment. He may respect established wisdom, yet ultimately needs to experience truth directly and act upon it personally. The D9 Moon in Gemini in the eleventh house adds curiosity and a need for shared dialogue with others. His spiritual and philosophical growth is likely to be strengthened by friendship, community and the exchange of perspectives.

Rohan's ninth-house Ashtakavarga is notably strong, with 37 Sarva points, and the Lagna contributes 5 points to the ninth house. This supports sustained development through higher understanding, teachers, travel, philosophy and a broadening of perspective. His current Mercury Mahadasha and Mercury/Mars Antardasha emphasize inquiry, analysis and the need to convert ideas into decisive action, while also requiring care that debates do not become unnecessarily forceful.

Shared Outlook and Complementarity

Ananya and Rohan share a meaningful emphasis on higher values, but they express it differently. Ananya's Aries ninth house, Mars in Gemini and Jupiter in Sagittarius point toward an active, questioning and intellectually exploratory approach. Rohan's Pisces ninth house, Sun and Venus in Pisces, and Jupiter in Libra emphasize compassion, harmony, faith and the emotional or relational meaning of life. Ananya is inclined to ask how an idea works and how it can be communicated or applied; Rohan is more inclined to ask whether it creates inner peace, moral coherence and emotional connection.

These differences can be complementary. Ananya can bring initiative, critical thought and practical momentum to shared goals, while Rohan can contribute empathy, idealism and a unifying sense of meaning. Both charts support growth through learning and reflection, and both have strong ninth-house indications in the Navamsa: Ananya's Moon occupies the D9 ninth house, while Rohan's Jupiter occupies the D9 ninth house. This suggests that dharma, worldview and continued personal development can remain important within the relationship.

There may nevertheless be friction in how convictions are expressed. Ananya's Mars-led outlook can become direct, analytical or debate-oriented, whereas Rohan's Pisces emphasis may prefer sensitivity, accommodation and faith in a larger ideal. Rohan may sometimes experience Ananya's questioning as overly sharp, while Ananya may find his idealism insufficiently specific or decisive. Their compatibility figures reflect the need for conscious cultivation: the total Ashtakoota score is 15.5 out of 36, with Yoni at 4 and Nadi at 8, while Graha Maitri is 1 and Bhakoot is 0. The favorable Vedha and Rajju indications support the possibility of constructive continuity, but the overall pattern benefits from patience, respectful communication and agreement on shared principles.

The strongest shared purpose will arise when they choose goals that unite compassion with action: Rohan's humane and harmonizing vision can give direction to Ananya's intellectual energy, while Ananya can help turn Rohan's ideals into clearly defined plans. Their outlooks are not identical, but they can become mutually enriching when neither partner insists that purpose must be expressed in only one way.

Potential Friction Points & Doshas

The overall Ashtakoota score is 15.5 out of 36. The principal areas requiring conscious adjustment are Vashya (0), Gana (0), Bhakoot (0), and the additional Mahendra and Sthree Dheerga poruthams, both marked not favorable. These indicators suggest differences in emotional rhythm, instinctive responses, mutual influence, and long-term expectations. They do not by themselves determine the outcome of the relationship, but they call for patience, clear communication, and respect for differing needs.

- Vashya Koota — 0: Ananya Sharma and Rohan Verma may not naturally find it easy to accommodate one another’s preferences or influence patterns. Attempts to control decisions, routines, or emotional responses could create resistance. A cooperative approach will be more constructive than insisting on one person’s way.
- Gana Koota — 0: Their instinctive temperaments may operate quite differently. Ananya may seek emotional sensitivity and reassurance, while Rohan’s responses may at times feel less predictable or differently paced. Misunderstandings can arise when one partner interprets the other’s manner as indifference, criticism, or overreaction.
- Bhakoot Koota — 0: This score highlights a potential difference in emotional priorities, domestic expectations, and the way each partner approaches shared growth. Financial planning, family responsibilities, and major life decisions should be discussed explicitly rather than assumed.
- Nadi Koota — 8: The computed Nadi score is full and favorable. Nadi Dosha is not indicated for either Ananya Sharma or Rohan Verma in this compatibility assessment. Therefore, Nadi does not constitute a friction point between them.

- Yoni Koota — 4: This is a comparatively supportive result and provides some natural compatibility in affection and physical rapport, helping to soften the more challenging temperament and Bhakoot indications.
- Tara Koota — 1.5 and Graha Maitri — 1: These modest scores suggest that emotional timing, mental alignment, and everyday communication may require deliberate cultivation. They should avoid relying solely on instinct during disagreements and instead confirm what the other person actually means.
- Mahendra Porutham — not favorable: This may point to a need for greater intentionality around mutual encouragement, continuity, and shared future-building. Consistent support and jointly defined goals can help strengthen this area.
- Sthree Dheerga Porutham — not favorable: Differences in emotional security, relational distance, or expectations of companionship may occasionally be felt. Regular reassurance and maintaining emotional presence are especially valuable.

Doshas Affecting the Individual Charts

- Manglik Dosha: Ananya Sharma does not have Manglik Dosha according to her chart data. Rohan Verma has Manglik Dosha. This asymmetry can manifest as differences in assertiveness, impatience, conflict style, or the speed with which tension is expressed. Rohan should take particular care to avoid reactive speech or actions during disagreements, while Ananya may benefit from allowing space for direct expression without letting conflict become personal.
- Pitru Dosha: Pitru Dosha is present for both Ananya Sharma and Rohan Verma. Shared sensitivity around family duties
- Pitru Dosha: Pitru Dosha is present for both Ananya Sharma and Rohan Verma. Shared sensitivity around family duties, ancestral expectations, or unresolved family patterns may become a source of pressure in the relationship. Handling elders and family obligations with mutual respect, transparency, and agreed boundaries will help prevent these concerns from spilling into the partnership.
- Ghata Dosha: Ghata Dosha is present for Rohan Verma. It is not indicated for Ananya Sharma. In Rohan's chart, this may intensify inner pressure, impatience, or a tendency to hold tension until it emerges forcefully. Calm discussion, timely resolution of disagreements, and avoiding prolonged resentment are important relationship safeguards.

- Other listed doshas: Kala Sarpa Dosha, Guru Chandala Dosha, Ganda Moola Dosha, Kalathra Dosha, and Shrapit Dosha are not indicated for either Ananya Sharma or Rohan Verma. These absent doshas should not be treated as active compatibility concerns.

Overall, the most significant practical consideration is the combination of Rohan’s Manglik and Ghata Doshas with the low Vashya, Gana, and Bhakoot scores. Ananya’s absence of Manglik Dosha means that conflict-management habits should be especially conscious and balanced. At the same time, the full Nadi score, favorable Yoni result, and favorable Vedha and Rajju poruthams provide meaningful supportive factors. The relationship is best strengthened through patience, shared decision-making, respectful handling of family responsibilities, and a firm commitment to resolving tension before it accumulates.

Timing: A Favorable Phase for Marriage

Present Dasha Periods and Marriage Readiness

Ananya Sharma is running Venus Mahadasha with Mercury Antardasha. Venus is her Dara Karaka, making this a particularly meaningful period for partnership, affection, relationship values, and the wish to create a harmonious married life. Venus also supports social connection and the enjoyment of companionship. Mercury's sub-period adds emphasis to communication, practical planning, mutual understanding, and making thoughtful decisions about the future. With Mercury placed in her ascendant and strongly represented in her Shadbala, Ananya is encouraged to express her expectations clearly and to approach marriage through honest dialogue rather than assumptions. This is a relationship-oriented and constructive period, although it benefits from careful communication around family, finances, and shared responsibilities.

Rohan Verma is running Mercury Mahadasha with Mars Antardasha. Mercury's major period emphasizes analysis, decision-making, communication, problem-solving, and the restructuring of important life areas. In Rohan's chart, Mercury is connected with a serious, introspective zone, so this period can bring deeper consideration of commitment, shared resources, family obligations, and long-term security. Mars Antardasha adds initiative, urgency, courage, and the desire to act; it can help him move from discussion toward concrete decisions. At the same time, Mars may make conversations more direct or reactive, particularly when pressure, uncertainty, or practical disagreements arise. Rohan's best use of this period is to act decisively while preserving patience and emotional consideration.

Together, these periods indicate a favorable but effort-requiring phase for moving toward marriage. Ananya's Venus–Mercury period naturally supports partnership and negotiation, while Rohan's Mercury–Mars period supports taking action and resolving pending matters. The combination is capable of producing progress, provided that action is guided by calm communication. The periods do not suggest passivity: they favor a deliberate transition from affection and discussion into clearly defined plans.

- Prioritize transparent communication: discuss expectations regarding residence, finances, family involvement, work, and responsibilities before finalizing commitments.
- Use Mars constructively: channel urgency into planning, meetings, documentation, and practical preparation rather than arguments or rushed conclusions.
- Protect Venusian warmth: preserve affection, appreciation, and quality time so that logistical discussions do not overshadow the emotional bond.
- Allow space for reflection: both partners should be given room to process important decisions, especially when conversations involve family or long-term security.

For muhurat selection, generally favor periods in which benefic dasha lords are active for both partners, especially when Venus, Jupiter, Mercury, or supportive Moon influences are well placed in the chosen election. A ceremony should ideally be scheduled during a calm, mutually agreeable window, with attention to a strong ascendant, supportive marriage factors, and avoidance of heavily afflicted intervals. The final choice should complement both partners’ ongoing dashas and support clarity, harmony, and steady commitment.

Remedies for a Harmonious Marriage

Traditional Remedial Suggestions

The Ashtakoota score is 15.5 out of 36, with particular sensitivity shown in Vashya, Gana, Bhakoot, Tara, and Graha Maitri. Nadi scores strongly at 8 points, while Yoni receives 4 points. The following traditional practices may support patience, mutual understanding, and family harmony. They are spiritual and supportive measures, not medical or financial guarantees.

Ananya Sharma

- For the stated Pitru Dosha, observe Amavasya remembrance of ancestors with water offerings and sincere prayers. Where customary, offer food or charitable support in the name of departed elders.

- Recite “Om Pitrubhyo Namah” 108 times on Amavasya, or participate in a qualified priest’s Pitru Shanti or Tarpana ceremony.
- As Ananya is running Venus Mahadasha and Mercury Antardasha, recite “Om Shukraya Namah” on Fridays and “Om Bum Budhaya Namah” on Wednesdays, preferably 108 repetitions with a calm, devotional attitude.
- For emotional steadiness associated with the Cancer Moon and Ashlesha nakshatra, maintain a regular Monday prayer practice and recite “Om Som Somaya Namah”.

Rohan Verma

- Rohan may undertake Hanuman worship on Tuesdays and Saturdays, including recitation of the Hanuman Chalisa, to cultivate disciplined handling of the Mars-Saturn tension reflected in the stated Manglik and Ghata Doshas.
- Recite “Om Angarakaya Namah” on Tuesdays and “Om Sham Shanicharaya Namah” on Saturdays, traditionally 108 times, without anger or fear.
- For the stated Pitru Dosha, perform Amavasya ancestor prayers, water offerings, and charitable acts in remembrance of the family lineage. A qualified priest may conduct Pitru Shanti or Tarpana according to family tradition.
- During Mercury Mahadasha and Mercury/Mars Antardasha, Rohan should favor measured speech, avoid impulsive decisions during disagreements, and recite “Om Bum Budhaya Namah” on Wednesdays.

Gemstones

- Gemstones should be selected only after individual consultation with a qualified Vedic astrologer, including examination of suitability, metal, weight, finger, and wearing time.
- For Ananya, a qualified astrologer may assess a Venus- or Mercury-related gemstone because Venus Mahadasha and Mercury Antardasha are active; it should not be worn automatically.
- For Rohan, a qualified astrologer should assess any Mars, Saturn, or Mercury gemstone with particular care because Mars and Saturn are involved in the stated dosha pattern.

Joint Lifestyle Practices

- Keep one weekly period free from phones and external interruptions for calm conversation, with each partner speaking without interruption before solutions are discussed.

- Use a “pause before reply” practice during conflict: take a short break, then return to the conversation with one specific concern and one constructive request.
- Offer worship together on Fridays or Mondays,
- Share a simple act of service each month, such as donating food, supporting elders, or helping a charitable cause, to strengthen generosity and soften differences.
- Respect both families and ancestral traditions while maintaining clear, mutually agreed boundaries around household decisions.
- Because Mahendra and Sthree Dheerga are not favorable, place special emphasis on patience, shared long-term planning, and reassurance rather than relying only on instinct or emotional expectation.
- Because Vedha and Rajju are favorable and Nadi receives 8 points, consciously build on stability, loyalty, and willingness to support one another through changing circumstances.

Marriage-Focused Puja

- A joint Navagraha Shanti, Pitru Shanti, or family-tradition-based marriage harmony puja may be undertaken under the guidance of a qualified Vedic priest, with Ananya and Rohan both participating.
- On Fridays, offer white flowers and a simple lamp in prayer for harmony, affection, and respectful communication.
- On Tuesdays or Saturdays, Hanuman prayer may be performed together, especially when disagreements become heated or either partner feels pressured.

Consistency is more important than intensity. These practices are traditionally intended to encourage humility, emotional regulation, gratitude, and responsible partnership while both individuals consciously cultivate kindness and clear communication.

A Closing Blessing for the Couple

Ananya and Rohan, your Ashtakoota score of 15.5 out of 36 reflects a relationship that calls for patience, conscious understanding, and steady emotional care. The strong Nadi score of 8 and Yoni score of 4 offer meaningful support for bonding and shared vitality, while the lower Gana, Vashya, and Bhakoot indications remind you to handle differences in temperament, expectations, and emotional response with gentleness rather than defensiveness.

Your charts together invite you to make communication a daily practice: speak openly, listen without rushing to judgment, and give one another room to process feelings. With favorable Vedha and Rajju indications, loyalty and perseverance can become lasting strengths. May Ananya's warmth and Rohan's capacity for renewal help you turn every challenge into deeper trust, and may your marriage be blessed with mutual respect, compassionate companionship, and enduring peace.
